True stories as told by our very own Dr J. Binks,
(maybe)

"Here," says the nurse, handing the patient a urine specimen container. "The bathroom's over there." A few minutes later, the patient comes out of the bathroom.

"Thanks," he says, returning the empty container. "But there was a toilet in there, so I didn't need this after all."

As I leaned in to check her eyes, my older patient got a little frisky. "You remind me of my third husband," she said coyly.

"Third husband?" I asked. "How many have you had?"
"Two"

Scene: The operating room. I'm reviewing the surgical checklist with the nurses.

Me: We have the surgical equipment, the heart-lung machine, antibiotics, and the replacement heart valve on hand.

Patient: You wait until now to figure this stuff out?

Would I make this stuff up? Maybe the first line ...
